

1 A handset having a housing having a display and first 2 keypad. The first keypad is removably coupled to the 3 housing. Circuitry is provided within the housing. The 4 circuitry is adapted to interface with the display and 5 the first keypad. A second keypad is provided. The second 6 keypad is exchangeable with the first keypad. The second 7 keypad is adapted to replace the first keypad on the 8 housing when the first keypad is removed from the 9 housing.